

Janimus Esports Business Proposal

1. Organization Overview

Organization Name: Janimus

Sector: Professional Esports

Janimus is a professional esports organization built around the idea of combining elite competitive performance with strong player branding, content creation, and long-term fan engagement. The organization is designed to operate as both a competitive team and a digital entertainment brand, where players are developed not only as high-level competitors but also as recognizable personalities.

The name Janimus represents transition, growth, and excellence. The brand reflects a new era of esports where success is defined not only by tournament results, but also by the ability to connect with audiences, create consistent content, and build meaningful partnerships. Janimus aims to help push esports further into mainstream American culture and position competitive gaming alongside traditional sports in terms of visibility and relevance.

The mission of Janimus is to become a leading force in American esports while expanding into a global presence. The organization focuses on competitive success, content-driven growth, player development, and community engagement. By balancing performance and personality, Janimus builds a modern esports identity that aligns with the direction of the industry.

Brand Identity

Primary Color: Dark Grey #1F2937

Secondary Color: Royal Blue #1D4ED8

Accent Color: White #FFFFFF

Fonts: Montserrat (Headings), Open Sans (Body)

The branding reflects a clean, professional, and modern aesthetic that translates well across jerseys, social media, and digital content.

2. Target Audience & Market Positioning

Target Audience

Janimus primarily targets Gen Z and young millennial gamers between the ages of 16–30 who are actively engaged in competitive gaming, streaming culture, and esports content. This audience consumes content daily across platforms like YouTube, Twitch, TikTok, and Instagram, and values authenticity, entertainment, and personality-driven content.

A secondary audience includes casual viewers and lifestyle consumers who may not actively follow esports but engage with digital creators, brand collaborations, and entertainment content.

Market Positioning

Janimus positions itself as a hybrid esports and content organization. While many teams focus primarily on competitive success, Janimus differentiates itself by emphasizing structured player branding, consistent content output, and deep audience engagement.

This approach allows the organization to compete not only in tournaments, but also in the digital content space, creating more opportunities for growth and monetization.

3. Organizational Structure

Janimus operates on a three-level structure designed to balance competitive performance and business growth.

Top Level

Chief Executive Officer (CEO)

Responsible for overall strategy, vision, partnerships, and long-term growth.

Second Level

- Director of Competitive Operations – Oversees team performance, coaching, and player recruitment
- Director of Marketing & Content – Leads brand growth, content strategy, and audience engagement
- Director of Partnerships – Manages sponsorships, deals, and revenue opportunities
- Director of Player Development – Focuses on player growth, branding, and professional development

Third Level

- Head Coach
- Player Manager
- Social Media Manager
- Content Creator
- Brand/PR Coach
- Partnership Manager
- Videographer/Editor

This structure ensures that players are supported competitively, professionally, and creatively, allowing Janimus to function as a complete esports business rather than just a team.

4. Competitive Game Focus & Expansion Plan

Initial Focus

Janimus will begin in VALORANT due to its strong esports ecosystem, developer support, and alignment with content creation culture. The game encourages player personality and streaming, which supports the organization's branding strategy.

Expansion Plan

As the organization grows, Janimus may expand into:

- Counter-Strike 2
- Fortnite

- Call of Duty
- League of Legends (long-term goal)

Expansion decisions will be based on audience alignment, sponsorship potential, and return on investment.

5. Content Strategy & Platform Breakdown

Content is a core pillar of Janimus' growth strategy.

Platform Strategy

- YouTube: Long-form content (challenges, IRL videos, documentaries)
- TikTok / Reels: Short-form, viral, personality-driven clips
- Twitch: Livestreaming and community engagement
- Instagram: Branding, announcements, lifestyle content
- X (Twitter): Real-time updates and esports engagement

Content Pillars

1. Competitive Content
2. Personality-Based Content
3. Educational Content
4. Sponsor-Integrated Content

This structured approach ensures consistent growth, audience retention, and sponsor value.

6. Player Branding & Content Expectations

Janimus players are expected to contribute to both competitive success and brand growth.

Content expectations include:

- Instagram: Minimum 2 posts per week
- Streaming: Consistent weekly schedule
- YouTube: Participation in team content
- Short-form content: Regular clips and highlights

Players are supported by PR and branding staff to help develop their identity. Accountability is built into the system, ensuring all players contribute to the organization's growth.

7. Game Theory Application

Janimus applies game theory to its sponsorship and branding strategy by differentiating itself from established competitors.

Competitors

Sentinels

Team Liquid

TSM

Cloud9

100 Thieves

Janimus Strategy

- Focus on personality-driven branding
- Target non-endemic sponsors
- Integrate sponsors into content rather than relying on logo placement

Payoff

This approach creates deeper audience engagement and offers sponsors more meaningful exposure, giving Janimus a competitive advantage despite being a newer organization.

8. Sponsorship Strategy & Activations

Sponsorships are the primary revenue driver.

Target Sponsors

- Food brands (Chipotle, Raising Cane's, Taco Bell)
- Lifestyle brands
- Apparel companies
- Automotive brands

Example Activations

- Sponsored YouTube challenges
- IRL team experiences
- Stream integrations
- Discount codes and fan promotions

This strategy focuses on delivering real value to sponsors through engagement, not just visibility.

9. Revenue Streams & Monetization

Janimus uses a diversified revenue model:

Sponsorships: $5,000–$25,000 early-stage deals

Merchandise:

- Jerseys: $80
 - Hoodies: $60
 - Hats: $25
- Approx. 50% profit margin

Content & Streaming: $500–$2,000/month early stage

Coaching Services: $30–$75 per session

Academy & Internship Program:

Develops future players and staff while creating additional revenue and long-term value.

10. Facilities & Operations

Janimus plans to operate from a team house environment where players live and train together. Each player has a private room, with shared spaces for practice, streaming, and content production.

This setup improves team chemistry, content output, and overall brand storytelling.

11. Financial Growth Projection

Year 1:

Focus on content and small sponsors

Revenue: $25K–$75K

Years 2–3:

Expansion and stronger partnerships

Revenue: $100K–$300K

Year 4+:

Tier 1 competition and major deals

Revenue: $500K+

12. KPI Tracking & Success Metrics

Key performance indicators include:

- Social media growth

- Engagement rates
- Content views and watch time
- Sponsorship revenue
- Merchandise sales
- Tournament performance

These metrics guide decision-making and track organizational success.

13. Risk Analysis & Challenges

Key Risks

- Difficulty securing early sponsorships
- High competition in esports
- Player burnout
- Over-reliance on content

Mitigation Strategy

Janimus reduces risk by diversifying revenue, starting in lower-tier competition, and providing structured player support.

14. Sustainability & Growth Strategy

Janimus is designed for long-term growth by balancing competition, content, and business operations. The organization begins at a manageable level and scales over time, reducing financial risk while building a strong foundation.

The academy system and internship program create a continuous talent pipeline, supporting both competitive and operational growth.

15. Conclusion

Janimus represents a modern approach to esports by combining competitive performance with content, branding, and business strategy. The organization is built to grow sustainably while adapting to the evolving esports landscape.

By focusing on both performance and personality, Janimus has the potential to become a leading American esports organization and expand globally, while helping push esports further into mainstream culture.